

Paul Cezanne was born in France in 1839. He began to draw and sketch in college but he went to law school. Law school didn't work out and Paul Cezanne moved to Paris to paint. Since he didn't have any real training as an artist he often went to museums to study and copy famous paintings. His paintings were not well liked at first, and his feelings were frequently hurt by rude or mean remarks by art professionals. But he didn't let that stop him. He continued to paint and by the age of 23 was becoming better known. By the time of his death in 1906, Cezanne's artwork was being displayed all over Europe. He very well known as an impressionistic artist. In fact, in the last 11 years of his life he was more famous than at any other time.
