

Headdress

This lesson began with students drawing a face in profile. After they were comfortable drawing this they drew their profile on paper. Headdresses were composed of several basic shapes – very simple designs. They then combined several shapes to create their own version of a headdress. I would suggest doing it white card stock paper in the closet and you may want to trace the face for them so they are not frustrated. I also think that after it is done to give the students the choice of 8-10 feathers for them to glue on after they are done coloring.

Sample on tagboard, cutout, colored, and feathers added.
